

Pulse of the Yarnangu
ngmedia.org.au

Ngaanyatjarra Media Aboriginal Corporation RADIO COORDINATOR/TRAINER WINGELLINA

NG Media are seeking applications for the position of Radio Coordinator/Trainer. The successful applicant will be responsible for the day to day production and programming of Radio NGM – a network of remote Indigenous community radio stations – and work to improve the rate and quality of community member participation, through training, networking and capacity building.

To be successful in this highly diverse and career-defining role, you'll need demonstrated skills in radio production and presenting, as well as the ability to effectively lead and train others. You'll have solid knowledge of radio production and broadcasting, studio equipment set-up / operation and relevant software applications, as well as an understanding of remote Indigenous context and familiarity working in a cross cultural environment. Given the daily need to connect remote broadcasters to the hub radio station, the ability to learn and use Teline codec equipment is also vital. Experience in community radio will be highly regarded, as will qualifications in Training & Assessment.

An attractive salary package with salary sacrifice is available. The position is fulltime. The position is based in Wingellina, WA.

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islanders are encouraged to apply.

For a position description:

asstmgr@firstnationsmedia.org.au phone: (08) 8952 6465

Applications close Friday 16 November 2018.

NG MEDIA
WEBSITE