Working at the ABC

The ABC is the nation's most trusted and independent source of Australian conversations, culture, and stories. With over 4,000 employees from diverse backgrounds, located across over 50 locations around Australia and overseas, we are proud to create, curate and deliver high-quality programming that informs, educates and entertains Australian communities.

The ABC's a great place to work; we provide various opportunities for Indigenous staff, including attending the national Indigenous staff conference, activities during NAIDOC week, regular networking events and mentoring support.

You'll have a friendly and supportive environment to learn and grow in, with a vibrant, dynamic and cohesive team and a manager who will help you with any questions and give you regular opportunities to talk about your progress. You'll also have access to a network of Indigenous staff and support from the ABC's Indigenous Employment Manager.

About the Role

ABC is seeking a Cataloguer/ Researcher to join the Archives team based in Darwin. In this role you will be responsible for cataloguing digital content and maintaining data in in-house systems as well as researching and retrieving content for ABC News and ABC programs locally and interstate.

Working within the Archives team, you'll also assist with the selection of digital News content, management of library collections and training internal clients in searching and retrieving ABC content.

About You

We are looking for someone who is technically savvy and experienced using a variety of databases, ideally in a Researcher/ Cataloguer capacity.

For the right person, we are happy to train you into this role, where you will have the opportunity to continue to develop as a Cataloguer/ Researcher. In return, you must have previous information management experience, great attention to detail and customer service skills plus a willingness to learn and develop new skills. If this sounds like you, we encourage you to submit your application.
