Working at the ABC

The ABC is the nation's most trusted and independent source of Australian conversations, culture, and stories. With over 4,000 employees from diverse backgrounds, located across over 50 locations around Australia and overseas, we are proud to create, curate and deliver high-quality programming that informs, educates and entertains Australian communities.

The ABC's a great place to work; we provide various opportunities for Indigenous staff, including attending the national Indigenous staff conference, activities during NAIDOC week, regular networking events and mentoring support.

You'll have a friendly and supportive environment to learn and grow in, with a vibrant, dynamic and cohesive team and a manager who will help you with any questions and give you regular opportunities to talk about your progress. You'll also have access to a network of Indigenous staff and support from the ABC's Indigenous Employment Manager.

About the Role

ABC Regional is seeking a new Producer to join their local team and assist in creating compelling broadcast, social media and digital content to meet changing coverage and content requirements across all platforms. In this rewarding role, you will research and identify content that reflects the local community and strive to increase audience engagement across the ABC. Reporting to the Chief of Staff you will:

- Produce the weekday breakfast program
- Work collaboratively as a member of the team to achieve set goals
- Actively engage in community projects
- Source and promote additional content from across the ABC

About You

We are looking for an enthusiastic and self-motivated Producer who can bring a perspective of culturally diverse communities and contribute to stories and conversations that reflect the broader Australian diversity landscape.

Appropriate support and mentoring will be provided to facilitate your success in this role. You will have:

- Previous experience producing an on-air shift, creating live radio in a fast paced environment and online content in a contemporary manner
- An understanding of the local audience
- Sound editorial and research skills
- Demonstrated experience working effectively in a team and meeting deadlines
- Excellent communication skills, both verbal and written
