Australian Catholic University (ACU) is an inclusive community which welcomes students and staff of all beliefs. ACU has over 2,500 staff supporting more than 34,000 students across eight campuses – Adelaide, Ballarat, Brisbane, Canberra, Melbourne, North Sydney, Strathfield and Rome.

As valued members of our community, all staff members are expected to have an understanding of ACU's mission and values and to demonstrate an active contribution to them.

The Learning and Teaching Centre (LTC) provides leadership in strategy, policy and capacity building, promoting excellence in learning and teaching at ACU, including in the online environment. The Centre provides programs and services to support professional development of academic staff and the technology platforms for course delivery and student engagement in learning.

As Project Leader of Phase II of the Indigenous Student Success Program (ISSP) project you will review and assess resources from Phase I and identify gaps to the comprehensive 'set' to be used in curriculum design. You will then design and lead an education program with the ultimate aim of embedding Indigenous Knowings, perspectives and pedagogical practices into ACU curricula.

In this role, you will also:

- provide expert curriculum design and assessment design advice
- undertake scholarly research in a relevant area
- take a leadership role in the implementation of a major project
- influence stakeholders and consult effectively with University staff.

You will need to:

- identify as an Australian Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander
- possess a post-graduate qualification in a relevant area of higher education or equivalent
- have successful experience in the design and delivery of professional capacity-building opportunities for academic staff
- demonstrate ability to show commitment with integrity to the Catholic Identity, Mission and ethos of the University.

The University pursues an excellence agenda and offers an environment where staff are welcomed and safe, and valued through development, participation and involvement.
