At the City of Sydney, our people are our most important asset and central to achieving our exciting and ambitious Sustainable Sydney 2030 – developing a green, global and connected city. The City of Sydney works to build socially sustainable communities that support a more inclusive Sydney – a city that is also more connected, liveable and engaged.

We have an exciting opportunity for a Graduate Diversity & Inclusion Project Officer focusing on supporting activities aimed at promoting sustainable careers for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander employees of the City.

This is a 12 month project as part of the City's Graduate Program. The candidate should have degree qualifications in human resources or related discipline, business, commerce, or be completing a degree or qualifications, and/or is seeking to undertake further tertiary study.

The candidate should demonstrate a keen interest and have some experience working in a business administration, project management or support role on employment and development programs involving Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities. Knowledge of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander culture is essential.

This vacancy is open only to Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander applicants, reflecting the City's commitment to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities articulated in Sustainable Sydney 2030; Reconciliation Action Plan, Eora Journey projects and the City's support for the Declaration of the Rights of Indigenous Peoples.

It is approved as an identified position under the Equal Employment Opportunity (Commonwealth Authorities) Act 1987.

Do you want to be part of something challenging and rewarding? Are you passionate about serving our community? The City of Sydney might be the right career move for you.

To apply: Click on 'Apply' button below to complete your online application. Please upload your current resume and address the essential criteria (selection criteria) as stated within the position description that demonstrates how you meet the requirements of this role.
