About our Organisation

Aboriginal Family Violence Prevention and Legal Service (FVPLS) Victoria is an Aboriginal Community Controlled Organisation established 15 years ago. We are the state's leading voice on preventing violence against Aboriginal women and children, and provide culturally safe, trauma informed, holistic assistance to Aboriginal victim survivors.

About the role

FVPLS Victoria is growing its support services for Aboriginal women across Melbourne and Victoria. The Koori Women's Place is a focal point for service delivery and support.

We're keen to talk to you if you have the experience and skills to

- maintain supportive relationships with Aboriginal women as they tackle the challenges of family violence
- plan and organise culturally and socially framed events
- work with partners, stakeholders and service providers to strengthen their cultural sensitivity in order to offer improved service to Aboriginal women.

At FVPLS Victoria we look for people who get on well with others, and most importantly, have an understanding of Aboriginal culture and values.

To find out more about the role call (03) 9244 3333 and ask for Kelly or Wanda.

Application Procedure

This is a designated position established as a special measure under sections 12 of the Equal Opportunity Act 2010. Only female candidates are eligible to apply for this position. Preference will be given to women of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander descent.

All applications should address the key selection criteria, include a CV and provide two professional referees. Only applications addressing the key selection criteria will be considered. Please refer to www.fvpls.org for further organisational information and the position description. Applications close 29 November 2017. Please apply directly to Sue Sharma (Human Resources Manager) at ssharma@fvpls.org.
