

Graduate paralegal/lawyer

This is an outstanding opportunity for law students who are eligible for graduation, newly admitted lawyers and individuals enrolled in Practical Legal Training Course to take on a position delivering high-quality legal services to vulnerable and disadvantaged people. Legal Aid Queensland is the state's largest law practice, employing some of Queensland's leading lawyers. These two positions are located in a regional office that advocates, provides duty law services and legal advice to our clients in Criminal, Family and Civil Law jurisdictions.

As a graduate lawyer, you will be supervised to prepare cases and advocate on behalf of clients, and provide advice about legal matters. This role offers the chance for you to expand on your experience by undertaking interesting and varied casework in a wide range of jurisdictions. We support our staff through ongoing professional development opportunities, mentoring, access to psychological wellness training and a balanced approach to work.

There are two positions available – one based in Maroochydore office and the other based in Townsville office. Please state your preference when applying.

One of the graduates must identify as Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander. For more information, please refer to the role description.
