Working at Western Sydney University means you'll be part of an organisation that's ranked in the top 2% of universities worldwide and is a research leader – with 80% of the University's research being at or above world standard.

We understand the key to your success is unlocking your true potential – just as we do with our students. Our 3,000 staff members work together to enable a dynamic, inclusive and innovative culture that is distinctly research-driven and student-centred.

The University is deeply embedded in the community and the region we serve, which is Australia's fastest growing economy and one of the most culturally diverse areas in Australia. Our 10 campuses include a hybrid network of technology-infused vertical CBD campuses and more traditional campuses across Western Sydney.

We take pride in challenging the traditional notion of what a university 'should' be and are dedicated to ensuring our 45,000 students enjoy the best and most dynamic learning experience possible. From our forward-focused reworking of our teaching methodologies to connecting our learning hubs with industry, we are equipping our students with real-world learning experiences and future employment.

With more than 180,000 highly-respected alumni – including 20,000 working across 128 countries – we are ranked the highest university in NSW for graduate employer satisfaction. Join us as we shape the future of Western Sydney.

Western Sydney University attaches the highest priority to engaging with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander students to ensure access, participation and success in higher education. The University has an important role working with Greater Western Sydney communities to ensure the region plays its part in the national and international community. As an institution which is globally relevant, Western Sydney University will offer students life-enhancing international experiences and contribute to and recognise the value of the multicultural richness of the local communities of Greater Western Sydney with particular attention to aspirations and concerns of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples.

An opportunity exists for 2 x Badanami Student Success Officers to join the team.

The successful applicants will play a major role in lifting the profile and performance of the University in developing and implementing the Badanami Centre for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander student success plan which is a pillar in the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Leadership Plan.

You will be responsible for the day to day operations of the Badanami Centre including student support service delivery, mentoring, transitional and pastoral care of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander students. You will work in close partnership with other centres, schools and Academic Support units to improve and enhance the student experience whilst working collaboratively to improve retention and graduation rates by monitoring, tracking and improving the student life cycle.
