

Indigenous Australian Studies, School of Humanities and Communication Arts

Casual Academics Eligibility List for Indigenous Australian Studies

Ref 1609/17

- Bankstown, Penrith and Parramatta

This is an identified position and applicants must be an Aboriginal and /or Torres Strait Islander person. Being an Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander person is a genuine occupational qualification as authorised under Section 14(D) of the NSW Anti-Discrimination Act, 1977 NSW.

If you are already on the Humanities (Arts) Eligibility List in the School, there is no need to re-apply.

The School of Humanities and Communication Arts invites expressions of interest from qualified people who are interested in casual part-time academic work which will involve lectures, tutorials, workshops and marking in the Humanities discipline specifically for Indigenous Australian Studies.

For information about the School, please visit the University website

<http://www.westernsydney.edu.au/hca>

Applications to be considered for our eligibility list are invited from candidates with the capacity, skills and/or experience to teach in one or more of our program areas in the Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Arts (Pathway to Teaching Primary, Secondary or Birth-5/Birth-12).

The School is seeking casual academics with expertise in Indigenous Australian Studies, including Indigenous Australian ways of knowing landscape, Indigenous Australian economics, Indigenous Australian arts practices, Indigenous Australian identity and identification. Our programs are offered on the Penrith, Bankstown and Parramatta campuses.

For further information on program structures refer to the University Handbook at <http://handbook.westernsydney.edu.au/hbook>

Applicants should note that an Eligibility List is a pool of suitably qualified people, whose expertise can be called upon in response to the School's teaching needs. Inclusion on the eligibility list does not guarantee employment.

Remuneration Package: Tutor to Lecturer ranges from $93.79 to $194.56 per hour. A separate rate for marking and academic other duties is available from the School.
