

SENIOR PROJECT OFFICER, RESEARCH AND CLINICAL TRIALS

REF: 17_33_SPORCT

About Cancer Australia

Cancer Australia was established by the Australian Government in 2006 to benefit all Australians affected by cancer, their families and carers. Cancer Australia aims to reduce the impact of cancer, address disparities and improve outcomes for people affected by cancer by leading and coordinating national, evidence-based interventions across the continuum of care.

The Role

Do you want to make a difference? Do you want the work you do to benefit all Australians who are diagnosed with cancer, their families and their communities? If so, this is your opportunity to assist, working towards reducing the impact of cancer, addressing disparities and improving outcomes for people affected by cancer. Cancer Australia is the Federal Government's national cancer control agency, leading and co-ordinating evidence based interventions across the continuum of care.

Cancer Australia is looking for a Senior Project Officer, Research and Clinical Trials to provide key support administering the Australian Government's Brain Cancer Mission including establishing and administering research and clinical trials funding grants, and associated activities consistent with the objectives of the Mission.

The role is full-time, ongoing, Sydney or Canberra location.

The Person

If you have a Bachelor of Science or related qualification, and experience in program management and grant management at the Commonwealth level, great communication and stakeholder engagement then this position is for you. This is your opportunity to not only advance your career working on government programs, but also make a distinct contribution to Cancer Australia's strategic agenda for national cancer control.

Submitting Your Application

Cancer Australia uses an online recruitment system (E-Recruit) to submit and receive all applications.
