

University of South Australia

LECTURER IN ABORIGINAL ALLIED HEALTH (TEACHING ACADEMIC LEVEL A)

- Based in the University Department of Rural Health at one of our rural training sites
- Full-time, fixed term contract until 31 December 2018
- Salary range: $63,817 - $89,377 per annum

ABOUT THE JOB

The University Department of Rural Health (DRH) has an exciting opportunity for you to contribute to the development of the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander health workforce in regional South Australia. You will develop and implement enhanced student learning experiences and cultural competency training for students, the health workforce and broader community.

To be considered, you will hold a degree in a relevant Allied Health discipline and current registration or eligibility for registration with the Australian Health Practitioners Registration Agency (AHPRA), together with current clinical experience. If you have an understanding of the issues impacting on the health services workforce, as well as factors affecting the health and wellbeing of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples in regional Australia, apply now!

For more information about the position and to apply, please visit: <https://workingatunisa.nga.net.au>

APPLICATIONS CLOSE: 9.00AM
WEDNESDAY 22 NOVEMBER 2017

Please note: Pursuant to Section 56 part 2 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1984 (as amended) (SA) applications are invited from Australian Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people only.