The Department of Jobs, Precincts and Regions (DJPR) was established on 1 January 2019 to ensure Victoria's strong economic performance by growing industries and regions. Here at DJPR, we're making sure Victoria's economy benefits all Victorians by creating more jobs for more people, building thriving places and regions and nurturing inclusive communities. We are committed to building a culture where we say 'yes' to flexible work arrangements, provide personal and professional development programs and support ways of working that help employees balance work and life. The department is an equal opportunity employer and welcomes applicants from a diverse range of backgrounds. As part of the Machinery of Government changes announced by the Premier of Victoria, on 1 Jan 2019 DJPR transitioned from The Senior Economic Inclusion Officers will manage initiatives which directly deliver inclusive economic opportunities for Victorian people, communities and businesses. In these dynamic, varied roles, you will be responsible for delivery of program objectives, negotiating with senior external and internal stakeholders, engaging directly with communities and brokering inclusive outcomes. You will also play a leadership role by developing and maintaining departmental knowledge of economic inclusion issues, including how these affect the management of programs, relationships and policies.

The Senior Economic Inclusion Officers are part of the Social and Economic Inclusion Branch which has been established to drive, advocate for and enable inclusive economic practices, programs and policies across the Victorian Government. As a member of the branch, you will have the opportunity to contribute to projects making a meaningful difference to Victorian communities and build your skills and exposure across the department. The branch is in an exciting phase of growth and we are looking for enthusiastic, adaptable team members and strongly encourage diverse candidates to apply, including Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people, people from multicultural backgrounds, LGBTI and people with disability.

To be successful in this role, you will have exceptional program management, communication and influencing skills along with demonstrated ability to develop effective working relationships with a wide range of stakeholders. You will enjoy working in a high performing team environment and have a history of demonstrating initiative and dedication across social and economic issues.
