

Charles Sturt University

Learn from leaders in rural and regional nursing education

For more than 40 years our Bachelor of Nursing has helped 10,000 people realise their dreams of caring for others. People just like you.

When you study with Charles Sturt, you'll graduate with the skills, knowledge and confidence to dive into your nursing career – and make a difference to those around you. Benefit from our strong industry links with local health districts and ties to regional and metropolitan communities across New South Wales.

#1
in Australia
 for nursing undergrads who get jobs

92% of our grads are employed full-time within 4 months of graduating.

Why study the Bachelor of Nursing with Charles Sturt?

- Get unique support through First Nations Student Connect.
- If you're an enrolled nurse with a Diploma of Nursing and current AHPRA registration, you'll get eight subjects of credit – that's one of the best credit arrangements in the country.
- Graduate as a registered nurse – our degree is accredited by the Australian Nursing and Midwifery Accreditation Council and approved by the Nursing and Midwifery Board of Australia.
- We're regional and rural health experts – 60 per cent of our nursing graduates from the last decade are from regional or remote areas.
- Study online or on campus – it's your choice.
- Get hands-on in our purpose-built nursing facilities, including our simulation hospital wards, part-task training area, debriefing room and labs.
- Start study in July (online only) or February (on campus and online) with the option to learn with other First Nations students.
