

Graduate Certificate Indigenous Trauma Recovery Practice

This program will respond to issues that have particular relevance in Indigenous communities in Australia.

THIS DEGREE

On completion of this six month course you will be able to:

- Apply critical thinking, collaborate practices and insights to effectively work with trauma-exposed individuals and communities.
- Apply Indigenous social and emotional wellbeing principles, practices and healing frameworks.

COURSE FEES

UOW has government subsidised places available for domestic students studying this course in 2022, subject to quota availability. If you're an eligible Commonwealth supported student, you can access HECS-HELP to defer part or all of your tuition fees.

COURSE STRUCTURE

This program is a six-month program delivered online and includes compulsory, live online activities throughout the course.

This course provided me with the evidence and science behind the work that I have been rolling out in community for a number of years.'
