

University of Southern Queensland

First Nations Education and Research

University of Southern Queensland

Building on its strengths as Australia's leading regional University, the University of Southern Queensland (UniSQ) has a number of new and exciting opportunities within the First Nations Education and Research (FNER) Portfolio.

The UniSQ FNER Portfolio, through a 'whole of University effort', strives to empower Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples to take their rightful place and reach their full potential at UniSQ. Professor Tony Dreise, Pro Vice-Chancellor will lead and implement our First Nations Blueprint 2022 – 2025 which envisions UniSQ as a renowned place of First Nations learning, intercultural exchange, truth-telling, that embraces 'Country'.

The FNER Portfolio will drive whole of university work via three organisational streams; College for First Nations, First Nations Research Alliance, and Murri Engagement Team.

If you are passionate about working towards empowering Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples to take their rightful place in our teaching, research, and engagement, then these opportunities are for you:

- Team Leader (Murri Engagement Team)
- Senior Lecturer (First Nations Studies, College for First Nations)
- 2 x Lecturer (First Nations Studies, College for First Nations)
- First Nations Research Associate
(Cultural Heritage, First Nations Research Alliance)
- First Nations Research Associate
(Climate Change, First Nations Research Alliance)

Applications closing in October and November, to find out more and apply, please visit www.usq.edu.au/jobs.