Coota Girls
Aboriginal Corporation

About Us:
Coota Girls Aboriginal Corporation aims to address the complex healing needs of our Stolen Generations Survivors, their families, and descendants. We work in partnership to meet the social, emotional, cultural, and spiritual wellbeing and practical support needs of Coota Girls Survivors and their descendants.

We do this in a practical, holistic manner, in collaboration with community and funding partners, to address Stolen Generations' trauma. We deliver healing programs, provide direct practical support, advocate for policy change, share the Coota Girls story for truth telling, raise awareness of the impacts of intergenerational trauma, and link Survivors, their families and descendants to support services.

About the Role:

We are seeking a Case Manager to join us on a Full time basis to assist our team with:

- Work with Coota Survivors, their families and descendants to identify areas of need, coordinate referrals, and coordinate engagement with families and community members.
- Support facilitation of referrals through developing a community network of organisations in relevant local areas.
- Work with local communities and organisations to embed knowledge of the impacts of removals on the Stolen Generations.
- Coordinate activities with local community service providers to promote and raise awareness of the impacts of removal on Coota Girls Stolen Generations Survivors, their families and descendants.
- Coordinate the development of supporting material such as fact sheets and guidance documents to support awareness-raising in local community services.
- Represent Coota Girls at meetings and events organized by Department of Communities and Justice, Stolen Generations Organisations or other stakeholders, that support the social and emotional wellbeing of Stolen Generation's Survivors, their families and descendants to facilitate their access to available services.

You will be required to undergo both Police and Working with Children Checks.

About You:

We are seeking a candidate who is:

- Knowledgeable regarding the impacts of trauma experienced by the Stolen Generations Survivors and their descendants.
- Has experience in working with a geographically dispersed team and membership.
- Has had experience in a Case Manager role
- Has a current driver's license (own vehicle highly desirable).
- Has lived experience and accepted as a First Nations person in their community.

Benefits

- Give back to the Stolen Generations by joining an organisation with purpose.
- Flexible start and finish times & hybrid working
- Competitive rate of pay and salary packaging
- Family friendly working environment
- 5 Additional wellness leave days per year

First Nations Disability Advocates

Expression of Interest

NSW First Nations Disability Advocate Service Roles

About us

First Peoples Disability Network Australia is a national organisation of and for Australia's First Peoples living with a disability, their families, and communities. FPDN's purpose is to promote respect for human rights, secure social justice, and empower First Peoples with disability to participate in Australian society on an equal basis with others. We are the traditional custodians of the Land changing the narratives of First Peoples living with a disability, their families and communities and we recognise this important responsibility.

The Roles

We are looking for Individual Disability Advocates who have experience in First Peoples communities and have lived experience in disability. Our goal is to provide independent individual disability advocacy services to remove barriers for people with disability. The successful applicants will utilise their experience in the education, housing or justice sectors to support the development of individual self-advocacy skills and identify and highlight systemic issues.

We are looking for a specialist in education who will be our Individual Advocate - Education, this role would suit someone who has worked within the NSW school system and has experience advocating for our kids with disabilities.

We also have a Coordinator/Community Engagement role available that would suit someone who has strong administration and organisation skills.

It is essential that the successful candidates have lived experience of disability and understand the barriers that Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people face when living with a disability in NSW across either the health, education, justice, or housing sectors.

To be successful in the role applicants will have;

- > excellent time management, organisational and communication skills
- > a high level of computer literacy

This role is funded for up to a 2-year period and the successful applicant will be required to work from home or in a hybrid working arrangement depending on location.

CLCs Australia National Accreditation Coordinator

37.5 hours per week;
salary range $101 829 – $106 333 plus super (packaging available).

Community Legal Centres Australia

Community Legal Centres Australia (CLCs Australia) is the peak organisation representing more than 160 community legal services in Australia. Community legal centres (CLCs) provide high-quality, free legal and related services to people and communities in need. CLC clients commonly experience financial hardship or other barriers to justice such as violence and discrimination.

The National Accreditation Scheme (NAS) encourages CLCs to continuously improve their services to clients and communities. Centres are assessed every three years to determine their compliance with seventeen minimum standards in areas such as governance, financial management, law reform activities and commitment to cultural sensitivity. Assessments involve online self-assessment by CLCs and onsite inspections by an Accreditation Coordinator. The National Accreditation Coordinator undertakes accreditation assessments in four states/territories. In other states, accreditation assessments are conducted by Regional Accreditation Coordinators (RACs), who are employed by state-based members of CLCs Australia (sector peaks). The National Accreditation Coordinator works with these RACs to ensure national implementation of the NAS.

The NAS is administered by CLCs Australia but was developed by the community legal sector. A successful accreditation outcome serves as a public guarantee of service quality. The NAS also promotes a framework for fostering continuous service improvement – CLCs are accredited subject to improvement plans which map out strategies for enhancing service delivery. Centres must comply with improvement plans and provide regular reports on progress.

We welcome applications from people with a commitment to high-quality and free legal services to people in need, who are able to work collaboratively with sector peaks and CLCs, who are capable of both strategic visioning and attention to administrative detail. Domestic travel will be required.
