Working at the ABC

The ABC is the nation's most trusted and independent source of Australian conversations, culture, and stories. With more than 4,000 employees from diverse backgrounds across more than 50 locations around Australia and overseas, we are proud to create, curate and deliver high-quality content that informs, educates and entertains Australian communities.

The ABC's a great place to work; we provide various opportunities for Indigenous staff, including attending the national Indigenous staff conference, activities during NAIDOC week, regular networking events and mentoring support.

You'll have a friendly and supportive environment to learn and grow in, with a vibrant, dynamic and cohesive team and a manager who will help you with any questions and give you regular opportunities to talk about your progress. You'll also have access to a network of Indigenous staff and support from the ABC's Lead, Indigenous Employment and Diversity.

About the Role

ABC News, Analysis & Investigations is seeking an emerging Multiplatform Producer with great storytelling skills and contracts to provide daily production support to ensure the Specialist Reporting Team's Indigenous Affairs coverage remains agenda-setting with consistently high standards of original, innovative and relevant output on all ABC platforms and leading programs.

You'll work closely with the National Indigenous Affairs Correspondent and other reporters, regularly pitching ideas, angles, talent and follow-up stories as well as researching and producing original stories.

About You

We are looking for an enthusiastic and self-motivated journalist with broadcast and digital experience to work in a deadline-driven news/current affairs environment. Knowledge and understanding of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander cultures and an ability to communicate sensitively and effectively with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples is essential.

You'll also be curious and passionate about telling stories and investigating social and political issues affecting Indigenous Australians. You'll be able to work effectively in a small team and thrive in a collaborative and creative environment.

Ideally, you'll possess well-developed writing and field production skills, as well as proficiency in audio and video programs and digital photography.
