About the Roles:

The Census Engagement Manager (CEM) roles are critical for us to deliver on our commitment to improve the quality and relevance of Census data for all Australians, including diverse population groups.

As a CEM, you will play a key role in maximizing participation in the Census through joining the ABS' existing engagement program and undertaking engagement activities with a range of stakeholders, community groups and members of the general public. These roles will join an established team of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Engagement Managers and will work alongside a team of people who specialise in engagement with specific population groups and sectors (Homelessness and Culturally and Linguistically Diverse). All CEM roles will focus on connecting the ABS to members of the community and those in hard to count population groups and sectors.

In your role you may be required to:

- connect with different population groups and communities and maintain those relationships
- develop and review work plans for your area
- identify specific strategies to address any operational issues for when Census is taking place
- train and manage a small team of field staff
- work remotely and/or travel to various work areas
- complete administration forms (such as timesheets) and other duties as directed
