

Australian Human Rights Commission

Senior Policy Officer – Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Social Justice Team

Executive Level 1

Salary $100,180-$112,013 Plus Superannuation

This position has been established to support the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Social Justice Commissioner, and more generally across the Commission, to contribute to key identified projects relating to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples.

Commissioner June Oscar's Wiyi Yani U Thangani (Women's Voices) Report has now been published. The focus of her work over the coming year is the implementation of those structural reforms identified throughout the report that are necessary for the equal enjoyment of human rights by First Nations women and girls. The advertised position within the Social Justice team will play a key role in ensuring that the voices of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander women are heard, and that their calls for change are answered.

The position holder will:

- Manage complex relationships across the Indigenous community, corporate, industry and government sectors, and work collegiately and in partnership with such stakeholders.
- Have excellent policy knowledge and will be proactive and responsive to highly complex problems.
- Demonstrate excellent writing skills, undertake quality research, and deliver evidence-based material of a publishable standard.
- Work collegiately with other teams across the Commission, as well as other key projects such as the Wiyi Yani U Thangani (Women's Voices) Project, the Close the Gap Campaign, and the Native Title Project.

Please note that the filling of this employment opportunity is intended to constitute a special measure under subsection 8 (1) of the Racial Discrimination Act 1975.

This vacancy is only available to Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander peoples.
