About us

Central and Eastern Sydney PHN is a Not-For-Profit Primary Health Care Organisation covering Sydney Local Health and South Eastern Sydney Local Health District regions.

Our aim is to increase the efficiency and effectiveness of primary health care services for patients particularly those at risk of poor health outcomes; and improve coordination of care.

PHNs are new and exciting additions to the primary health care landscape. You can find out more about this PHN at www.cesphn.org.au.

About the Role:

The Domestic Violence Educator will coordinate education for primary care and other healthcare providers and promote integration with local domestic and family violence services.

The Domestic Violence Educator is responsible for development, establishment and monitoring key program priorities to ensure optimum performance against agreed outcomes and key performance indicators. This will require a sound knowledge of issues related to domestic and family violence and specifically those identified in the Central and Eastern Sydney PHN's (CESPHN's) needs analysis and the priorities established by the Commonwealth Government.

The maintenance of professional working relationships with a diverse range of stakeholders including, general practice, allied health, private service providers and the Local Health Districts, community representatives and social services will be a key requirement of the position to ensure high quality project outcomes. The Domestic Violence Educator will also be required to support health system integration and stakeholder engagement, person centred approach and quality improvement in general practice.

The Domestic Violence Educator will be located within the Population Health and Chronic Disease team and will be required to provide expertise and guidance on matters relating to domestic and family violence. They will also be expected to work collaboratively with different CESPHN teams within CESPHN to leverage and apply our collective expertise to achieve service and organisational outcomes.

Your responsibilities will be:

- Deliver training in domestic and family violence for ALL of CESPHN staff who visit medical and allied health practices to inspire changes to improve how care is provided to people who are experiencing family and domestic violence.
- Co-design with key stakeholders resources and quality improvement strategies that will enable medical and allied health practices to improve their care for people experiencing domestic violence.
- Raise awareness of and deliver tailored education about domestic and family violence to medical and allied health providers and promote routine screening.
- Promote the RACGP domestic and family violence e-learning modules for GPs and coordinate development of tailored modules for reception staff, practice nurses and allied health providers.
- Coordinate development and implementation of a domestic and family violence screening tool for primary care and promote expansion of screening from antenatal and postnatal checks to other routine checks, such as pregnancy and children's health checks.

- Develop and support in-practice quality improvement activities that promote improved management of domestic and family violence by primary care providers, that are part of the Quality Improvement Practice Incentive Program promoted by CESPHN.
- Work across acute and primary care and social and community sectors to ensure best practice continuing professional development opportunities for primary care providers. These activities would be a combination of small group in-practice education, as well as large group education blended with related topics such as the Antenatal Share Care Program and mental health.
- Provide cross-sectoral networking opportunities at education and training events to strengthen collaboration and local referral pathways.
- Undertake the development of new programs specifications and implementation
- Liaise with health professionals, the community, service providers and other relevant stakeholders to provide input into program planning, development, implementation and monitoring.
- In conjunction with the Population Health and Chronic Disease Manager, CESPHN Executive, Program Advisory Committee and other stakeholders, develop program plan and timelines in priority areas.
- Monitor and report on program activities, budget and outcomes, and implement evaluation plans for the program activities as directed.
- Support the collection and maintenance of high quality data in compliance with policies and procedures, including the protection of confidential information and the implementation of data quality improvement plans.
- Participate in the development of a safe and healthy workplace and comply with WHS legislation and instructions given in adhering to safe work procedures.
- Provide input and assist in the planning and development of new policies, procedures, activities and services in the key project areas for both external stakeholders and internal staff.
- Develop and promote referral pathways to meet the needs of our local communities, particularly in relation to family and domestic violence.
- Support general practices to engage in person centred care, quality improvement activities and apply a systematic approach to the provision of patient care.
- Undertake administrative tasks such as production and distribution of correspondence, reports and/or presentations relating to the program area/s.
- Seek opportunities to work collectively with internal staff to improve program and evidence-based practice outcomes.
- Participate in team meetings, collaborative planning activities and quality assurance activities.
- Perform other duties commensurate with skills and experience as required.

You must address the criteria in your cover letter and send your cover letter and resume to: recruitment@cesphn.com.au
