

MEDIA PRODUCTION COORDINATOR

ACMI is the museum of screen culture. Navigate the universe of film, TV, videogames and art with us. ACMI celebrates the wonder and power of the world's most democratic artform – fostering the next generation of makers, players and watchers. ACMI's vibrant calendar of exhibitions, screenings, commissions, festivals, and industry and education programs explore the stories, technologies and artists that create our shared screen culture.

An exciting opportunity exists within our Technical Services team for a highly talented Media Production Coordinator to play a key role in the creation and delivery of media content across our range of onsite, online and offsite programs.

Showcasing your production skills in the development and editing of digital media content, you will also provide technical and production support by facilitating program delivery to a broad variety of audience groups.

You will demonstrate experience and expertise in all aspects of media production, including knowledge of the latest developments in digital media production and proficiency using a wide range of production and post-production software.

Now is an exceptional time to join this great team as we reopen our museum to the public.

This fantastic Grade 3 role is offered on an ongoing, full time basis with commencing salary of $68,884 plus super.

To apply for this opportunity, click 'Apply Now' on the ACMI Careers page and follow the online application process. Applications should provide a 500-word response outlining their experience together with a brief resume. We are actively seeking applications from people with diverse backgrounds, to support this you may provide a brief 2-minute video (in place of the 500-word response) and a brief CV for your application if you prefer. Please include the link for the video in a Word document (we recommend using the video sharing platform loom.com to create this) or contact us on recruitment@acmi.net.au.

Applications close: Monday 18th January 2021 at 11:59pm.

Please note interviews will be held on Friday 22nd January 2021 via Zoom.
