Caber Ra Nanga Case Worker

Northern Sydney

- Newly created position as part of a innovate Aboriginal Mental Health service
- Work with clients, service providers and the local community
- Part time (2 days) contract to June 2021 based in Macquarie Park paying $42p/h + super + salary packaging

About the opportunity

We are working with an Aboriginal Consultant who will be delivering Aboriginal Mental Health First Aid training in schools across Northern Sydney and monthly yarn up groups. The training will build the capacity of educators to respond appropriately to the needs of Aboriginal & Torres Strait Islander people and identify those who require wraparound mental health support.

The role

You'll provide wraparound support to referral people including case work, providing brief interventions, partnering with service providers and community leaders to build referral pathways, share information and provide culturally appropriate service continuity.

About you

This is an identified position only open to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people.

You will have:

- Case work or service coordination experience
- Understanding of mental health impacts on the Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander community
- Ability to yarn with everyone, being respectful of other's beliefs and adapting your approach to the person/group
- Have capacity to travel to schools and other service providers

Why Relationships Australia NSW?

- Join our Mariyang Malang staff network and connect with peers across RA NSW
- Improvement mental health outcomes for Aboriginal people in the region
- Salary packaging and additional leave options
